More information

S/Sgt Frank H. Trilling enlisted in Milwaukee, Wisconsin on 15 September 1942.

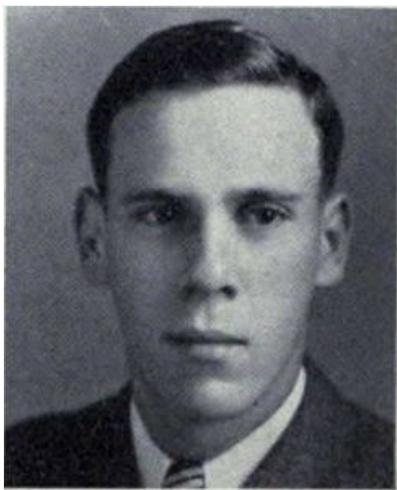

Aircraft #42-107185 was hit by flak in the target area (Berlin). Left formation in vicinity of target and continued to follow formation until about 31 miles on course after departing the enemy coast. At approximately 54°14'N - 07°25'E at 1352 hours the aircraft was seen to ditch. Observations just prior to ditching indicated that three (3) engines were out. As this aircraft had lagged behind the formation from the target area out, it was too far behind to accurately observe whether ditching was carried out safely.

Eventually all of the crewmembers beside Staff Sergeant Frank H. Trilling survived the ditch in the North Sea just North of the Island of Norderney and were captured by German Sea Patrol.

S/Sgt Frank Henry Trilling had his parachute on, against strict ditching regulations, and most likely this has been the cause of him drowning, while the others could not reach him because the aircraft that was broken in half blocked the way between Staff Sergeant Trilling and the other crewmembers.

Along side his parents, he is remembered at Oak Hill Cemetery in Neenah, Wisconsin.
